Sonja:

This Defense attorney called and is unable to be in court today. So don't worry about coming to Taunton today.

Thanks for the lab numbers. On call would probably be better, unless you find out for sure that you are going to need me there. Just to let you know, Google Maps says it will take about 2h10m for me to get from Amherst to Taunton assuming everything runs smooth (traffic, weather, etc.), plus I'd need a few minutes to finish and put away whatever I was working on and change clothes, so I'm guessing it would take me about 2 1/2 hours from the time I got your call until I arrived at court. With that said, I'm guessing that I wouldn't go on the stand until after lunch (2ish), but the earlier you know if I'll be needed, the easier it will be for me. You can try calling the lab directly at 413-545-2607, but if nobody answers then give me a call on my cell at [REDACTED]. Thanks.

Sonja:

The lab numbers on the drug certs are [REDACTED] and [REDACTED]. I'm not sure as of today weather it is going to be a trial or not. I can place you on call if that is better for you and give you a call if/when I need you, so you can stay at work and not waste a trip. Just give me the best phone number to get in touch w/ you for Thursday.

Thanks
-Dan

Hi Dan-

You may have already received another message from me, but I just wanted to find out about the [REDACTED] case scheduled for trial on Jan. 20, 2011. Specifically, the drug lab number(s) for the case were not included on the summons. Without these, it is tough (if not impossible) for me to review my notes and be prepared for court. Also, I am curious of the likelihood of this case actually going to trial, or if it will probably be continued, pled, etc. Although I do not have a problem going to Taunton (from Amherst) if needed, I would hate to waste a day travelling if the case is going to be pled or continued. Any information would be appreciated. Thank you.

-Sonja
